2: Tet is the most important festival of the Vietnamese calendar. Lunar New Year Festival often falls between late January and early February; it is among the most important holidays in Vietnam. Officially, the festival includes the 1st, 2nd and 3rd day in Lunar Calendar; however, Vietnamese people often spend about nearly a month to celebrate this special event. On New Year's Day, most families meet to exchange gifts and have a traditional meal, Homes are decorated with the hoa mai flower and all thoughts of sadness are supposed to be avoided.. Many families plant a new year's tree in front of the house and wrap it with lucky red paper. The tree is removed at the end of the first week of the new year. After the family meal, many Vietnamese attend the local pagoda to worship ancestors. Food is an important part of the Tet celebrations. The traditional meal includes foods such as bang, a bamboo and pork soup; bang chung, a sticky rice cake filled with pork and beans; and orange sticky rice. Families leave a five fruit tray at the altar. Tet is the most important festival in my country!
