

Q36: task 1 Hi Spencer It'll be nice to see you on Saturday. We will have dinner in a restaurant near my house, the Shine restaurant. The food is very delicious and the services are good. I will come there about 7.00 pm. The restaurant has a big garage, so you can park your car there. See you Oanh

Q37: task 2 In my opinion, travelling alone brings us a lot of benefits. First, travelling alone affords you more freedom to do what you want, when you want and for how long you want to do it. You are always free to decide your complete travel route. By travelling alone, you'll likely meet many people along the way than if you were traveling with a friend. Obviously hotels can offer the easiest way in which to meet others but there are many other ways too. You can volunteer in organizations and also join tour groups with others. Another advantage of travelling alone is the fact if you really want some time to yourself, you're free to do so at anytime. It's easy to take time out for yourself while travelling alone and this may even be the one reason you decided to take this trip in the first place. And travelling alone can give you the best of both worlds...the option to meet new people and socialize whenever you want, the freedom to decide when you want some alone time and also to set your own travel plans.