

Task 1: Dear Chi, I know now you are so busy at your work, but I really need your help. Next Saturday my father is going to visit me and send me some food. His train arrives at 6.00pm but that time I will be still doing my part-time job. This is the first time my father comes to Ha Noi so I am quite worried. There are some his traits that can help you recognize him: approximately 1m70 in height, quite thin. He has a tawny complexion and a bald head. He said he would wear a grey shirt, a visored hat and a pair of long black pants. I hope that you can give me a hand. Reply me soon and thank you so much Your friend, Linh

Task 2: Casual fashion is my style. First and foremost, it will bring you the feeling of something lively, strong of youth. Secondly, as far as I know, casual clothes are not expensive, they are suit for everyone's wallet. I have bought many shirts from different shops, the price is always from 70.000 to 150.000 VND, according to the customers' need of material, style etc. Thirdly, it make you feel more comfortable. You can be yourself and do everything you want. I rarely wear a dress although my mom and my friends sometimes said that I would wear dress more, it looks better on me than when I wear a shirt. But I understand that my characteristic just suits casual clothes. I feel more comfortable and safer while wearing them. And I think if you know how to mix casual clothes, they still can make you opulent, courteous. But when I come to a luxury party or somewhere that has many adult wearing suits, vest, etc, I think I had better wear formal clothes not to ruin the atmosphere there. Hobby is just hobby, not that we always insist on the way we are.
