TASK 2: I think a sucessful film do not only need famous actors. famous actors just be a part of the film. the most important is the script, i think so. the script make the means of the film, if it has famous actors but the script is not good, spectators will not interest in it. the director also helps the film more complete. he/she will show the actor how to play. but if a film has many famous actors, the spetators will curious about the film, and it can attractive than the others. so a film need many factorial to be a successful film
