Task 2 Some people think that a factor that make to a successful film is a famous actors . I stand with those people who against with this opinion There are some reasons that I believe a film can be successful without famous actors. Firstly, actors that they are not famous can act more better over expected. Because these actors are not famous, so a few of directors invite them to appear on their film. As a result, their talents can not be known. Secondly, a successful film have to need a talent director too. A famous actor can not act good at all film that they appeared, so they need to a director that can help them to change some mistake action for adapting a film. Thirdly, a writer is also a factor that contribute a film to be successful. An interesting script can attract actors who want to appear. In conclusion, although famous actors is also a factor to increase attention viewer , but I believe that a film also need to another factor for contributing a film to be successful.
