

Task 1: Dear Paul Hi Paul. Long time to see. I'm glad to visit you on Saturday. I will visit your house by train. The train will start at 7.00 AM and I will arrive at 10.30 AM. Then we will enjoy lunch together. How do you feel about Vietnamese cuisine ? If you like it, I would be a great cook . At the evening, we will go to cinema. I knew a romantic film. It's awesome. Then, Will you take me to enjoy dinner at restaurant ? I would like to enjoy your local beef steak. And I will come back to my house at 10.00 PM. See you soon, Yours, Hoa

Task 2: Social development today makes people's life greatly improved. Because the need for quality of life has increased. People have time to rest, relax ... Watching movies is one great way to relax. And especially the film's special effects affect everyone. Have good effects but also negative impacts. There have been many cases where criminals are those who are obsessed with violent films. Or your child is daydreaming superhero or something like that. We live in a virtual world that we forget that we need to do in the real world. That is the negative side of the film brings. But there are also film or the positive aspects of the film are very helpful to people. There are very young scientists who have succeeded. And they say the scientific film has brought the passion for them. Or a guy who lost love, despair after watching an emotional movie. He has regained confidence in life, the strength to stand up. Overall the movie is good or bad depends heavily on the perception of the viewer. You need to have a good enough reason to recognize what is good or bad. You should ignore the bad and embrace the positives. If the viewer is not enough aware of the people to be able to not be affected by the film. The family, the people around them need to be selective.
