

Task 1: Dear Giang I'm sorry I had to go home early last night. I thought my father would reach the railway station at 9 p.m. But something's wrong happened to the traffic so his train delayed and it will reach the railway station at 8 a.m tomorrow. It's will be disastrous that I won't be there at that time. I will have a class at 7 a.m on the same day. So please reach him at 8 a.m tomorrow for me. My father is a tall man with chocolate skin. He's going to wear a black pants and a white suits. Although the easiest thing to recognize him will be his rainbow beret. Thanks a lot ! Hope to see you soon See ya

Task 2: The way you wear shows a bit of your own characters, some people like to wear something polite. But I prefer casual fashion because it brings me more comfortable and flexible. Firstly, it requires less time to put on and has better mobility than formal wear. Secondly, formal wear requires constant needs such as ironing and dry cleaning while casual wear can simply be washed and dried. In addition, most people tend to wear casual clothing as they attend daily activities. Will you go out with your friends in a uniform? But you can definitely go to college with casual clothes Besides, in most career situations, interviews, and occasions like weddings, funerals, lectures, at nicer restaurants, it reflects poorly on a person when they dress casually. It shows a disrespect for the circumstances, utter laziness, or sometimes both. so, It is not fair to compare casual wear to formal wear when the two are generally acceptable under different circumstance. I can't deny that casual wear is acceptable in more relaxed situations. To compare the two is to compare soufflé and rice pudding. They're both equally relevant in the right dinner party situations. You cannot compare casual and formal style. But everyone has their own favorite clothes. In my opinion, Casual clothes is more convenient than formal style.
