

Task 1: Dear Leslie, I'm really happy that you've invited me to your party this Saturday. I'd love to come to your house and I'd be much more happier if I can bring my boyfriend Josh with me. Is it okay with you? Oh I like to dance so much, so I hope we will dance at your party. I'll send you the music list so you can play it on Saturday. Do you have any board game? If you don't, I will bring "Monopoly" to your house. I'll be so much fun if we can play it together don't you think? See you soon.

Uyen Task 2: In Vietnam, there are many festivals in a year such as Double Five festival, Mid-autumn festival, etc. Among them, the Lunar New Year is the most important and popular festival. Vietnamese people need make a good preparation to welcome the New Year festival. Preparation often begins a week before the actual celebration. At that time, everyone is busy buying some necessary items such as clothes, food, shoes, .... In spring flowers market, people go to visit and choose their most satisfied flower pots. Moreover, food is gotten ready; the traditional dishes get ready: square glutinous rice cake, pickled Welsh onion, pie, chicken, spring roll and these confectioneries such as ginger jam, sugar-preserved lotus seeds, sweet, cake, .... Everybody often cleans and decorates their house. On the last day of the year, preparation for new year is completed. Families have a New Year's Eve supper together and expect the New Year's Eve. The first day of Tet is reserved for nuclear family. Children receive a red envelop containing money from their elders. In Tet, people visit relatives, friends and give these close relatives the traditional Tet greetings. This is a lucky, healthy, happy wish such as: "wish you a happy new year", "wish you in security and good healthy". Lunar New Year is the most important festival for Vietnamese people. These are funny and happy days that people prepare and welcome new year together. In addition, it is a wonderful occasion for Vietnamese families to reunite and remember their ancestors