

task1 : dear Alex, the first i am very happy to become your friend, i am fine thank you, and you ?? :)) i have a brother, his name is Hieu, he is very handsome haha, my favourite hobby is dog. i have a dog. nice to meet you, my friend task 2: hello everyone, today i will talk about the topic: The moon and space will be popular places to go on holiday in the future. the first is spacecraft Probably the most important piece of the puzzle, because without it you'll just be a guy in a spacesuit standing in a field looking up at the sky. It's bad enough having to listen to someone recounting the time they befriended a local harem pants salesman during their gap year in India, let alone the time they accidentally sneezed in their own face while experiencing zero gravity. A moon colony, however, does pique our interest. Overall I find this to be one interesting idea