Task 2: Traveling is a popular hobby of people especially in these modern days when they can afford traveling expense. In my opinion, traveling alone brings us a lot of benifits. The first advantage that traveling alone offers is the total autonomy that allows you to do anything you like. You can freely arrange the ideal vocation to your heart's content since you are the sole decision maker. If there is something happening unexpectedly, you can change the traveling plan on a whim, according to your condition and do not have to depend on anyone. Itinerary, meals, hotels and mode of travel are all up to you, which are of your interest. Moreover, traveling alone enable you to visit and explore any place, from the magnificent scenes to natural landscapes. It is not necessary to care for others' interest, which sometimes force you to visit some places that you do not like. You can completely enjoy the whole traveling process as you have designed and customized. You want to try local dishes? Go for it. You want to stay in a five-star hotel? Do it, as long as you have enough money. The second advantage is that you can maintain your privacy. When you return the hotel, you still can do some extra work with the laptop that you bring with without any disruption from other people. You can listen to the favorite music until midnight because you are not afraid of disturbing the one who share the roommates. Moreover, if you travel with a group, you need to follow some set of rule. In solo traveling, you're free to do anything. Eat when you want, drink whatever you like, go wherever you feel. There are no demands, objections or disagreements. You are always free to decide anything. You can meet anyone you want, play anything. Another advantage of solo traveling is that you can keep some time for yourself. In life, you need to pass some time with yourself. Imagine, you're standing beside seashore all alone. You're thinking about your life. Whatever you did in past, wrong and right, suddenly, you'll feel fresh. You can understand your rights and wrongs. You'll feel energetic and recharged. It's an incredible experience. you. It is also possible for you to enjoy the book you like best without the pressure of communicating with the roommates. Enjoy life, feel the freedom, make new friends and travel alone! Travel all around the world.
