

task 1 : Hi, Lisa Last week before the Big Bang came to the capital Hanoi that our I saw them at the airport when I go pick up my friends I was surprised and delighted, if you're there with me I guarantee you also really interested because they see in real life but not on TV that :)) task 2: in life development right now the phone is a indispensable for everyone. It helps us to be able to communicate with one another at a distance no matter how. For emergency work, failing to see the talking, phone calls are useful means to help people exchange information easily and quickly. With each other at a distance who can not regularly meet the call is also one way to help close the gap again. But it should not depend on it too. Friends who met relatives should also talk if not too busy and too far apart to be able to chat with each other to meet directly.
