

Task 2: I think our work leads to success or not, partly thanks to communicate. Communication is a very important thing for us. Communication helps us understand what the opponents want to say, helps us absorb everything around. Communication is a very important thing in the life of each person. I dare assert that, because I see it from my sister. at present, c is the head at a large company, c was very successful in his job. and that success is thanks in part to communicate. My sister was a beautiful appearance, especially her very confident in communication. thanks to this strong point, she had to show her capacity, she launched initiatives always received. thanks to good communication should be in the trip to meet clients, I always get people nominated to go. through the trip, she had a much better deal for the company and good partners. Her increasingly more confident after each business trip, she was cultivating knowledge, communicate better and more in her. and I'm trying to learn, and communicate to the latter as successful as my siste. you're one to me learning, certain later I will succeed as his sister. love sister! Task 1: Dear Linh! How are you? his long time not writing to you. Do you remember me? How are you learning how are you? but they themselves remain healthy. his study was okay. today I write to you, I have a lot of something to tell you. I wanted to tell with this chuye you know. flying hours, his family moved to another place, to facilitate the breeding and care of trees, animals, now that his parents had moved to the farm. here are happy you sir, first air fuel cool, fresh, far from urban areas. Space is very quiet. daily help parents care for their gardens, for grazing animals. these animals are very lovely here my friends, a new watering trees, full of flower color. I tell you ngje So you do not feel good. if you have free time to participate please yourselves family farm. long time no see you, I miss you so much. ohari now I go to work, you soon in a back to yourselves. you are welcome to the farm with his family. Love!
