

Task 1: Dear Thiet, I am so sorry because i can't go swimming with you tomorrow. I am tired. I'm having a headache. Sunday is fine. We could go swimming. Let's go to West Park. Regards, Lan Anh. Task 2: Friendship refers to the mutual relationship of affection, trust, cooperation, and support between two or more individuals. Over emotional times, I realize how lucky I am to have met and connected with so many people around the world, many of whom I consider good friends. No matter what time of the day or night, I will always find someone willing to hear me out, who knows me and is willing to offer a calm advice, a good word to lift my spirits up. No one in the world, understand our thinking, dreams and desires like friends do. Plus, the main reason of choosing to do friendship is to be with someone who understands and does not judge. Our friends generally have common ideology and opinions, hence it becomes easy for them to perceive. Moreover, friends encourage us to try things we can never imagine doing. All of them may not be positive, but they sure are adventurous. The memories of those moments are the factors that make life exciting and joyous. Without friends, life would be unimaginable boring. I remember a unforgettable memory. When my heart is broken, my best friend offered me her shoulder to shed my tears on. She provided me the loving warm arms that wrapped me away from the harsh times. I felt better. Lastly, i think friends are important in our life. If you never had friends, you never lived life.
