task 2: Nowadays, large families are not as popular as they used to be. One hundred years ago, there were many families with three or four generations living together. Being a member of a large family has both advantages and disadvantages. A large family usually consists of grandparents, parents and children. It is so happy to be together with family in front of television watching favorite shows or around delicious dishes in the kitchen. Whenever a member gets into trouble, he or she can talk with other members and may get a lot of useful advices from people of all generations. Besides, being in a large family makes you get used to co-operating with others which you will have to practice many times in your future job. However, there are some disadvantages. The most terrible thing is the big quarrel. For example, a quarrel about money can lead the whole family to depression and anger. If a father gets fired, his family's expenses will be considerably cut down. Then it's very difficult for his children to get higher education. Therefore, they have little chance of being successful in society. Anyway, I still enjoy being a member of a large family. Living in a large family is actually a very good thing if we always try our best to make our family happy. task 1: hii, Alex I am very happy to receive your letter . here there are so many pools . however , "Kh?n Quàng ??" is the best pool . there, and very clean water. many people go there in the morning and evening swim . From the city center , you can go straight "Kim Mã" Street, then turn right "Ng?c Khánh" street . Pool located on "Ng?c Khánh". You can go swimming in the morning , the air is fresh , cool and minorities. Evening is more crowded , of course, water is not clean . when you can call on me . I will take you to many places in this city famous. See you at an early date Love, Trang