Task 1: Hi Linh, I'm having a birthday party next Friday. Would you like to come? It'll be fun! All our friends from school are coming and some of my family. I'll have a party in my house. My house is behind our school, 50 Duong Quang Ham. It's right next to the park and it's got a blue front door. The party will be started at 7.00 p.m. Can you bring some lemonade and crisps? Hope you can come and see you soon, Thu Task 2: IIn my opinion, people who work in a professional place such at the office, wearing a formal suit is better than informal clothes such as jeans and T-shirt since it gives good impression for both client and management that you are a neat and organized person. Moreover, dressing in an appropriate manner that fit the company culture shows that you care about the image you and your company shows to the client. Also, research has shown that when you dress smartly, people such as client and investors will assume that you are successful and want to be associated with you as a result. Another example that I have experienced on is that when I was at school, formal clothes, specifically, uniform, was a obligated thing for all students. Although I did not enjoy wearing it but on the other hand, I also find the school uniform represents the student. When wearing the uniform, it brings feels and atmosphere that different from when I wore casual clothes. I was more conscious and more productive since the uniform created a professional atmosphere.
